Dr. Philip Jenkins, the renowned expert on the Future of Religion, especially Future Christendom, will make three presentations on the subject in Jacksonville. He will draw on the extensive new scholarship that has appeared in recent years. He is known for his penetrating analysis of the decline of Christianity in the Global North and its enormous success in the Global South. He will explore the emerging reality of a Future Christendom, both its continued growth but also further division and conflict within itself and with other religions. He will address how Christianity will continue to contribute to the liberation of the poor and how it will interact and/or react to an increasing secularism. The first two presentations are free and open to the public. Monday's lunch is by reservation only. For further information call St. John's Cathedral at 904 356 5507.

Jenkins is the author of over 25 books including The Next Christendom: The Face of Global Christianity, The New Faces of Christianity: Believing the Bible in the Global South, Laying Down the Sword: Why We Can't Ignore the Bible's Violent Verses, The Many Faces of Christ: The Thousand Year Story of the Survival and Influence of the Lost Gospels. His most recent book, Crucible of Faith: The Ancient Revolution That Made Our Modern Religious World Possible, was published in 2017. Jenkins is a contributing editor for The American Conservative, and writes a monthly column for The Christian Century. He has written articles for Christianity Today, First Things, and The Atlantic, and many other scholarly publications.
