Single Life Workshop is a DVD curriculum created by Barry & Lori Byrne and their son, Brendon Byrne. The goal for Single Life Workshop is to encourage growth in learning how to do relationships well. We don't believe in just teaching and passing on information. We put men and women in small groups so they have a hands-on opportunity to use the tools we've given them in order to relate to one another, share and be themselves. With their appointed "family", they will talk, laugh, play and work through the significant things that would otherwise hinder them in having healthy, transparent, intimate relationships. This workshop is not about finding a mate but about becoming healthy, confident and ready.

As you participate in this workshop, you will experience:

- Fresh and bold teaching to confront deep-rooted issues that prevent you from relationship
- Learning to love yourself so that you will allow others to love you
- Opportunities to practice sharing and being vulnerable within the safety of a small group
- Hope for an amazing marriage and preparation for that significant person the Lord has for you
- How to pursue and engage the opposite sex in relationship
- Cultivating healthy boundaries and learning the truth about "no"
- Biblical revelation to see sex as the incredible gift God's given to a husband and wife
- Homework assignments that challenge and activate the sessions
- Having a good time while being in community and learning to trust others
