As many of you already know next Friday, May 19th, will be the last day for Sherri Foley as director of Loving Arms Daycare. Sherri has been in this position for 10 years. She is a tireless worker at the daycare and a huge supporter of St. John's School. Her leadership will be missed. Thank you Sherri for your work!

I am working on putting a staff together so that Loving Arms will continue to operate as normal. Please pay attention to the upcoming newsletters for more information regarding Loving Arms.

Loving Arms Child Care Families,

This is my written notice of resignation. My last day will be May 19, 2017. It is so hard to say good-bye, so that is why I am saying see you soon. Change is never easy, but, I know that this is the path that the Lord is putting me on, and I have accepted a position with the United States Post Office and will shine my light on others who may not yet know our Savior. I do wish to thank you for entrusting me with your most prized possession, your children for the past 10 years. What a joy it truly has been to watch them grow, physically, mentally, and most importantly spiritually. Each and every family that has come through our doors has touched my heart and I am so glad that I was their teacher, if even for a little bit. Words cannot even begin to say how truly blessed I have been to be on this journey with you through life. I know that I will see each of you again in heaven when our heavenly Father calls us home so until that day comes I will say see you soon.

In God's Grace,
Sherri Foley
